Location

Matlock is a popular Derbyshire Town situated in the historic Derwent Valley on the A6 trunk road. The town accommodates the administrative headquarters of Derbyshire County Council and Derbyshire Dales District Council. Additionally, Matlock is close to the Peak District National Park and the White Peak Trails + Cycle-Routes.

The premises is located at Matlock Bus and Rail Interchange, on the fringe of the town centre with easy pedestrian access to Dale Road and Crown Square.

The main town centre car park is immediately to the north of the site and the railway station (with East Midlands Trains [EMT] services to Derby and through to Nottingham and Peak Rail heritage railway services) is immediately to the west.

Description

The property was constructed as a bus and rail interchange waiting room in the mid 2000s. The accommodation was originally designed to complement the adjoining goods shed and surrounding period buildings but is now considered to be under used.

The property is of masonry construction with gritstone elevations and a fully glazed frontage comprising double glazed aluminium windows and automated sliding doors, surmounted by a flat roof with a large domed opaque skylight.

Internally, the property benefits from quarry tiled flooring, painted plastered, block and stone walls together with a painted plaster board ceiling and inset spot light fittings.
